

Ildikó Fejes

head of Department, National Museological Methodology and Information Centre (OMMIK), Hungarian National Museum, Budapest

I graduated from Eötvös Loránd University, Faculty of Arts majoring in history and archaeology. I also have a degree in European Union Experts at University of Miskolc, Faculty of Economics. In 2014, I acquired Arts & Business Manager qualification at University of Applied Sciences, Budapest. I have more than twenty five years working experience in the Hungarian National Museum: including database building, participating in Internet and multimedia content development and EU projects.

I have been heading the National Museological Methodology and Information Centre (OMMIK) of the Hungarian National Museum since 2011. In addition to management and coordination activities, OMMIK's goal is to function as a clearinghouse of information and cooperation among Hungarian and international museums. I have led the developments of the services of the OMMIK.

Since 2016 I have been a board member of ICOM AVICOM as treasurer and since 2018, I have been the Quality Manager of the Hungarian National Museum.
